

2010 BJH PLAY PERMISSION FORM
Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs
Thursday, March 18, 2010

Below are a few basic BJH Play policies:

1. Cast members should understand that being in the play is a privilege not a right; hence, failure to abide by play policies may result in removal from the cast. Those in the cast are expected to maintain an excellent discipline record.
2. To make each rehearsal as productive as possible, complete cooperation from each cast member is essential. Everyone is expected to be at each rehearsal on time. When not on stage, cast members are to be at a table in the back of the auditorium and be doing schoolwork or something to improve their work in the play. Cast members are not to be using the Markham Center, playing outside the Academy Auditorium, or using the Auditorium as a gymnasium. Guys and girls should never be together back stage.
3. We want parents and students to understand that being in the play is a commitment that will consume a considerable amount of time. If academics or family life will be adversely affected by that sacrifice of time, perhaps the play should be avoided. Being in the play is never to be used as an excuse for not having homework or projects completed.
4. Except for family emergencies, excuses for missing a rehearsal are to be submitted in advance in writing from a parent. Please do not use soccer games, school sports, birthday parties, or other purely recreational activities as an excuse. No excused absences will be granted the final two weeks of rehearsal.
5. Attached to this form is a proposed rehearsal schedule and we are asking that parents and students look it over carefully. If there are definite conflicts or serious reservations, then it may be best to pass on the play this year. ("The prudent man foreseeth the evil" Proverbs 22:3). We hope parents and students recognize that we strive for a balance in the JH play. We want the experience to be enjoyable. It should be fun! However, we also seek to make being in the play an educationally profitable experience. Achieving this balance requires cast, crews, and directorial staff working together. No cast member can attend the Thursday evening Artist Series performance on March 11, 2010.
6. Auditions will consist of a short memorized piece (1 minute or less). The memorized piece can be a Psalm, a verse, a song or other poetry/prose. (No student can quote the University Creed.) We ask that students do not audition for specific parts. We give each student the opportunity to demonstrate his/her best skills, and then we choose the students we believe will make the best cast. We, then, assign the parts.
7. If your young person is selected for the cast he/she must be at the November 20 required meeting. A letter will be sent home on November 20 letting parents know how you can help.

Thank you for considering this opportunity for your young person!

Please refer any questions to Mrs. Joanna Foster at jjfoster@bju.edu.

Having read through these policies with my young person and having examined the proposed rehearsal schedule, I give my child permission to audition and, if selected, to be in the 2010 BJH play, Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs. (Please keep the rehearsal schedule for your records.) Please return this form to the JH Office.
