Student Loads & Course Repeats

A normal full-time graduate student load is 8–12 credits a semester or at least 1 credit for doctoral students. The minimum full-time load for residence hall students is 8 credits. The maximum load for a full-time student is nine credits per term and 15 credits per semester, regardless of modality. Students may apply to the dean of their school to exceed the maximum load limit for a term or semester. The dean in consultation with faculty, using the cumulative GPA earned on work at BJU, will make the determination whether to grant permission to exceed the maximum load limit.
